DISCOVER CONTEMPORARY PHOTOGRAPHY

Read what the mainstream photography magazines leave out. See the frontiers of contemporary photographic art presented in full color visuals. PHOTOGRAPHY Quarterly, an outstanding magazine of creative photography, features new talent who cross boundaries, chart new territory, question cultural values, and illustrate their dreams. Read by a sophisticated audience interested in photography, film, and video, our articles provoke and inspire.

The PHOTOGRAPHY Quarterly covers new visual concepts, critiques old ones, presents new artists and writers, and explores contemporary aesthetic ideas from across the national and international field. Past contributors have included A.D. Coleman, Mary Ellen Mark, W.M. Hunt, Yancey Richardson, William Wegman, Vik Muniz, Ellen Handy, and many others!

Each issue investigates a timely theme in photography and related arts, including film and video, and includes essays, interviews, artists' portfolios, noted books, IN LIGHT (new work), and information on opportunities for artists including grants, exhibition, and residencies.

The PHOTOGRAPHY Quarterly, published four times a year since 1979, is produced by the Center for Photography at Woodstock, an internationally renowned arts and education organization dedicated to contemporary photography. The Quarterly is a full color publication, 8 1/2 x 11", 32 pgs, saddlestitch, 80lb. stock, glossy cover. Available in print form only.

US subscription $25 / $40 Canada & Mexico / $45 international.
